Making your Will is vital, enabling you to set down what you want to happen to your belongings and property after you are no longer here. A Will is also helpful to your family and friends in the aftermath of your passing.

Writing your Will is also an opportunity to do something lasting for a charity, furthering its cause way into the future. A share of your estate, after you have made provision for family and friends, is a particularly tidy way of helping a charity and prevents you having to decide now on a precise sum.*

Your National Free Wills Network solicitor will be able answer all your questions about what should be in your Will, including any charitable gifts you choose to make.

* Under the terms of the National Free Wills Network, you are not obliged to include a gift to GOOD GARDENERS INTERNATIONAL
